May 6-12 dates for registration

Registration for the summer and fall semesters will begin a week from Friday, May 6, and will end Thursday, May 12. Students will not be permitted to register after that until Thursday Sept. 15.

Students are urged to register early to insure a choice of classes and hours. They will obtain supplies in The Registrar's Office.

The Registrar has announced a new procedure for schedule changes. Previously, no changes were allowed until the second registration period. This year, however, students may make schedule changes any time during the summer, at no extra charge.

Counsel will be offered by appointment—at the convenience of counsellors, who will post schedules of available office hours.

The Office of Adult Education has revealed there will definitely be no post session this summer.

Chem majors to tour

OU chemistry majors will begin industrial tours of Omaha Thursday.

The students, who are divided into groups, will visit different places, meeting at the Chamber of Commerce for luncheon. William Campen of the Omaha Testing Laboratories will speak on "Chemistry in Industry."

Four films featured at convo tomorrow

A group of four movie shorts will conclude this semester's film convocation series, tomorrow at 1 p. m.

Built around a general theme of American history and contemporary life, the first will be "The Inaugural Story," depicting the inauguration of President Truman.

The future development, the past and present, of the Mississippi River is the subject for the second film. "Give Me Liberty," will feature revolutionary patriot Patrick Henry's famous addresses, "If this be treason . . ." and "Give me liberty or give me death."

The last short is "A Letter from America," showing a man writing a letter to his sister in Europe and highlighting the differences in life and governments.

Faculty series will be wound up tonight

President Bail will ring down the curtain on the Faculty Lecture Series tonight.

He will deliver a speech on "New Objectives in Higher Education" at 8 in the faculty clubroom.

The lecture is to cover the kind of an educational program needed to produce the right kind of citizens for the right kind of society.

Bridge vetoed in Council meeting

Card playing was voted down by 9-5 at the Student Council meeting Friday.

The decision came following several weeks of discussion between members of various campus organizations and the council. Letters from sororities and fraternities saying that the members would abide by the rules governing card playing were read, preceeding the vote.

Those who voted for the proposal were Pat Hasch, Jo Hughes, Ruth Jorgensen, Margaret Hunt and Lloyd Metheny. President Dan Koukol only votes in case of a tie.

One of the main protests against card playing was that the Greeks were not representative of the entire school. Other opposers said they favored an all-school vote on the matter.

President Dan Koukol stated that if enough of the students disagreed with the decision, "we will be flooded with letters." If enough letters are received, the council will reopen the matter.

The vote was taken by roll call.

Koukol reported that Mayor Cunningham told Lloyd Metheny and him that city engineers are working on the possibility of a road being made especially for students.

A motion was passed to have an all-fraternity intramural league. Mark Gautier and Ben Tobias were named to investigate the possibility of eliminating the individual high school team setup.

Audio-visual demonstration

Audio-visual teaching aids will be demonstrated to faculty members tomorrow at 3 in room 385.

Several different projectors, including the viewgraph, will be shown in operation and discussed.

Regents approve budget increases

The university's cost of living is going up.

Next year will see fewer students on the campus, but school operations will cost more, according to the budget approved at a Board of Regents meeting Thursday.

The 1949-1950 expenditures will be $7,921 more than this year's despite an expected six per cent decrease in day students. Last year the budget called for $1,061,899.33; the 1949-1950 figure is $1,069,821.

Major increases will come in faculty salaries amounting to $32,781.65 and in an additional $35,070 for maintenance and supplies.

This will be partly offset by a decrease of $18,500 in revolving funds. Revolving funds are for activities operating on a self supporting basis. These include the bookstore, cafeteria and student activities.

Fund down $18,000

Last year, $218,500 was allotted to revolving funds, this year it will be $200,000.

The budget was passed with little comment by the board. President Bail pointed out that faculty salaries are still somewhat below the national average.

Appropriations for the Fieldhouse are not included in the budget. The $500,000 to be spent on the Fieldhouse comes from accumulations in the building fund. Income for the coming year is expected to be $542,171 from student fees and $265,000 from taxes. The school operates on a one mill levy.

Council, Attira XV election petitions due Thursday afternoon

The "big" election of the year is coming up soon.

May 7, students of the university will go to the polls to elect 12 persons to the Student Council, two others to the Board of Publications and the Ma-ie Day Princess, Attira XV.

Petitions for all candidates must be turned into the Dean of Students Office by 2 p. m. Thursday.

The council positions call for two girls and two boys each from the Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes.

Students seeking a place on the Board of Publications must be from either the Junior or Senior Class.

Graduating senior girls may become candidates for Attira XV.

Delta Beta Phi, O U's local business fraternity, became the Gamma Eta chapter of the international fraternity Delta Sigma Pi Saturday afternoon.

Forty-nine active members, 16 alumni members, ten faculty members and one honorary member were initiated.

Installation was conducted by a team of 14 members.

Attending were 15 members of Beta Theta from Creighton, 16 members of Alpha Delta from Nebraska, 15 members of Alpha Eta from South Dakota and five members of Epsilon from Iowa City. Thirty national and alumni members were also present.

About 170 members attended a formal banquet Saturday evening honoring the new O U chapter. H. G. Wright, Grand Secretary-Treasurer of Delta Sigma Pi, was toastmaster.

Bail welcomes all

Greetings were extended by President Milo Bail at the noon ceremonies. A review of the founding of the College of Applied Arts and Sciences was given by Dr. C. W. Helmstadter.

Allen L. Fowler, Grand President of Delta Sigma Pi presented the charter and charge of Gamma Eta Chapter to Jim Hergert, head master of Gamma Eta Chapter.

Dean John W. Lucas, member of the Grand Council outlined the future plans for the Division of Business Administration and indicated in what way the local chapter of Delta Sigma Pi could prove of value to the division.

A brief history of the local Delta Beta Phi was given by Glen C. Appleby.

Life insurance firm offers vocation tests

Students who are undecided about their vocational futures have been offered a helping hand by the National Life Insurance Company.

This organization has announced it is extending opportunities to take aptitude, preference, and vocational guidance surveys without obligation.

Although primarily with the objective of finding prospective employees for the company, the surveys take in between 28 and 50 major occupational fields and are of value to any person taking them.

Harold F. True, general agent in Omaha, announced that appointments to take the surveys be made by calling him at JA 0126.

Student Council observes Arbor Day; Bail plays host at luncheon

Student Council members got their lunch "on the house" and "threw some dirt" Friday.

President Bail was host at a luncheon given for the council in room 100. The dirt was thrown as the councilmen officiated at the planting of the university's Arbor Day tree.

The ceremony took place at 1:30 p. m. on the northwest corner of the girl's athletic field where each councilman put a shovelful of dirt around the tree. This is the fourth tree to be planted. One is set out each April 22.

The purpose of the luncheon was to talk over school problems in a "take it easy" atmosphere. After being here about nine months, Dr. Bail told the group, "I have found that the parents are more friendly than the students." He added that he is also surprised at the lack of class unity and suggested that in the future each class be able to have an annual function, such as a prom.

One field not enough

Dr. Bail then told the council that the Coming Vocations Day is planned "to help the students sell themselves" after they are graduated. He commented that the student of today must be well versed more than the mechanics of his field.

As for card playing, Dr. Bail said that he has no objection to it as long as it is kept clean. "The no gambling rule could be enforced if the students would really get behind it." He added that the present students could greatly influence the newcomers in keeping the law.

President Bail also asked the council to start making plans for the Student Union Building. He suggested that council members gather ideas from other schools during summer vacation trips.

City Mission head addresses ASGD

Many communities are "Gutter Colleges" turning out graduates qualified for the "J. D. (Juvenile delinquency) degree."

This was the opinion expressed by Miss Marie Newell, administrator of the Neighborhood House of the City Mission, at a meeting of the Association for the Study of Group Dynamics April 7. Her topic was "Community Influences on Behavior."

There are both good and bad influences in a community, Miss Newell pointed out. Delinquency is caused not by the "bad influence" itself, but by its action on a "vulnerable" person.

Children with part-time jobs, handicaps (physical, mental and social), poor parents and parents who do not stay at home are vulnerable, she said.

Delinquency should be combatted in two ways, according to Miss Newell. First, the vulnerable child must be discovered and helped as an individual. Second, the harmful influences of the environment must be removed.

Vets must notify VA

Veterans must notify the Veterans' Administration of a change of address to insure prompt delivery of their monthly checks. The post office is not allowed to deliver checks to addresses not occupied by a veteran. An undelivered check is sent back to the Treasury disbursing office. Until the VA hears from the veteran the check is withheld. The VA urges all veterans to comply with this regulation to avoid delays in receiving their checks.

Talent show wants students under 19

Students not over 18 who play an accepted musical instrument or sing may get a chance to display their talents over Radio Station KOIL.

A new program, "Stepping Stones to Stardom," will feature a weekly talent contest for young people. Every seventh week a semifinalist will be selected and from these a winner will be chosen. A piano is the grand prize.

KOIL's program director, Virgil Sharpe, will be in charge.

Alums' supper will precede Bail's lecture

Omaha U alums are sponsoring a "cafeteria style" supper to precede Dr. Bail's Faculty Lecture Series talk Tuesday.

The supper is scheduled for 6 p.m. in the east side of the university's cafeteria.

"This particular arrangement, because of its inexpensiveness, is gaining wide popularity among alums," said Virginia Shields, chairman-in-charge.

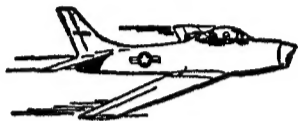

"Alums attending," she added, "will have an opportunity to re-acquaint themselves with faculty members and classmates."

Goodness comes from Washington—Payne

"In this day, people believe that human goodness comes not from the heart—but from Washington."

Dr. Wilfred Payne, head of the Department of Humanities, made this statement in discussing "Profound Religion" at the Town and Gown Club's last meeting before summer adjournment, in the faculty clubroom.

"This is not a religious world," Payne declared, "nor is this a religious age. Man today substitutes social reform for true religion in the belief that righteousness can be legislated."

STORE-Y LOOKS

There's a picnic in the air—and hamburgers on the bill of fare. Individual 'burger roasters will cook the meat to a turn.

Clamp the patties between the two metal plates at the end of the long handle and sniff that aroma as the beef sizzles over the fire. A real addition to your outdoor cooking fun for a quarter each.

For a nimble finger is the thimble of hand-painted porcelain. A dainty flower motif in pastels decorates the ivory-colored background.

There's a tradition of fine craftsmanship as old as this country behind this thimble. Keep it in mind for that problem gift for the lady who seems to have everything. It's $3 in a local gift shop.

You'll take a "shine" to the men's bathing suits fashioned of luminous fabrics. They glisten in hues of pink, red, vivid blue and yellow.

Designed in both the loose, boxer-trunk style and the tight, second-skin mode, they sell for about $6.95.

Nuts about nuts? If you're the purist that labors over removing the shells, you'll appreciate a set of six nutpicks with matching nutcracker.

Made of non-tarnishing metal, they've attractive spiral designs on the handles. No more hard nuts to crack if you make this 75 cent investment.

Indian 9 in first home appearance against Morningside this afternoon

OU baseball rooters get their first glimpse of the Red and Black this afternoon at Fontenelle Park at 2:45.

After two regulation games and a practice-tilt away from home, the Yelkinmen play their first home game against Morningside, an old arch rival.

Yelkin wouldn't reveal the complete starting lineup, but he did indicate that either Bud Bridenbaugh or George Kostal would probably do the chucking. Duane Lippold or Bob McNutt will most likely complete the battery.

Virg hinted that he would juggle the lineup in an attempt to find some hitting power. "Some of the veterans haven't come through," said the baseball mentor.

He singled out the all-around showing of Leroy Holtz, veteran outfielder, and Chad Taylor, rookie infielder, as a welcome bright spot in an otherwise foggy picture.

"The boys are still not in condition," Virg moaned. Another headache is Jack Seume's bruised heel. He should be able to play today, but if not, Lynn Hooton will probably man his position.

WAA entertains high school girls of Omaha

WAA members entertained Omaha high school girls last Saturday at the annual Play Day.

After playing basketball and soccer, and square dancing during the morning, the girls were served lunch by the WAA hostesses. Afternoon sports were baseball and volley ball.

Six girls from each high school took part at the Play Day, the purpose of which is to promote good will between OU and Omaha high schools.

WAA President Jean Bressler was in charge of arrangements.

OU track squad vies at triangular

OU's track squad left by bus this morning for their third meet in seven days.

Twenty-six athletes are making the journey to Indianola, Ia. for this afternoon's triangular with Simpson College and Central College.

Today's traveling roster:

Glen Richter broke the OU high jump record Saturday with a leap of 6-ft. 1 1/4-in. His effort gave him a first place tie with Harold Huff of Idaho State at the Sioux City Relays.

The old record of 6-ft. 1-in. was also held by Richter. He set it last year.

Lorelle Alford sailed over the crossbar at 11-ft. for a fourth place tie in the pole vault. His mark equaled the school record of which he is co-holder.

The mile relay team finished third with the creditable time of 3:33. Runners were Ray Carlson, Dick Nelson, Don Bahnsen and Alford.

Bob Dow, hurler, and Brad Johnson, high jumper, were sidelined with injuries. Dow bruised a heel after qualifying for the hurdle finals. Johnson fell on his shoulder after a jump.

'Mural tennis tourney play begins on May 2

Tennis is the next sport to highlight a busy Intramural sports agenda.

Intramural tennis began yesterday. Any student not a letter winner in tennis or a member of the varsity squad is eligible.

Students interested must sign a petition which is located in the men's locker room and the Snack Shack bulletin board. The petition must be signed by Friday.

Pairings will be listed by next Monday and play will begin that day. The tournament will consist of singles, doubles play and will count toward the Intramural Trophy. Medals go to the winners.

Indian golfers tackle Bluejays and Wichita

Two tough matches await the Indian golfers today and Thursday in the form of Creighton and Wichita.

Creighton U's potent linksman will try to stop Omaha U's improving pill pokers at 1 p.m. today.

Coach Johnny Cambell's team will be seeking its fourth straight win. Last week they defeated Doane, Washburn and Morningside by lopsided scores.

Coach Campbell is expected to move long-driving Bill Berner into the No. 1 spot in place of Chester Stefanski, who has dropped to No. 3.

Captain John Duncan will remain in his second position and the vastly improved Dick Fowler will tee off in the No. 4 spot.

Ray Nelson and Bill Hargens will team in the third foursome in the No. 5 and 6 spots respectively.

Last Friday the Indians made it three wins in a row with a 14-4 triumph over Morningside at Sioux City. Don Moulden, ace Maroon golfer, defeated Stefanski, 2-1.

Four WAA girls off to Wisconsin

Four WAA members left this morning for the University of Wisconsin at Madison to attend the twelfth annual convention of the Athletic Federation of College Women.

The girls—Jo Ann Olsen, Virginia Layher, Shirley Welniak and Joan Nelson—will travel by chartered bus which will also carry other Nebraska, Iowa and Colorado delegates.

At the convention the girls will exchange new ideas on athletic programs with over 400 delegates from all over the country. Mixed in with the discussions, meetings and addresses will be a picnic supper, banquet, campus tours and games.

"We have four good delegates going and we hope they will have much to tell the students about the beautiful facilities. Wisconsin is an ideal spot for the conference," said Miss Enid Wolcott, acting head of the Women's Physical Education Department.

Wichita tennis squad visits here Thursday

Coach George Pritchard's tennis squad will play host to the University of Wichita on Omaha's all weather courts Thursday afternoon.

The Indian netters will be gunning for their third victory of the young season when they take on the reportedly strong Kansans.

In their last outing, the Red and Black thumped Morningside, 7-0.

Fred Pisascale, playing in the No. 1 slot for the first time this year, turned in the best performance of the day and of the season for the Indian crew.

Pisascale upset the Maroon's Lynn Foster in three sets, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2. The loss was Foster's fifth in four years of college competition. Other results:

Harold Hlad defeated Fred Brown, 6-1, 6-0; Jim Reed defeated Scotty Reynolds, 6-3, 6-0; Bob Wray defeated Phil Loh, 6-2, 6-8, 6-4; and Dave Davis defeated Frank Loh, 6-0, 6-3. Pisascale-Hlad defeated Foster-Harry Wallace, 7-5, 6-0; Reed-Davis defeated Reynolds-Brown, 6-4, 6-1.
